2023 Annual Report

Many Paths to Healing
MISSION

Helping individuals achieve mental and emotional health, discover and reach their potential, and fully participate in life.
Message from the CEO

Every client who comes to Momentum for Health has a unique path to healing from trauma, substance use, and mental health challenges. At Momentum, we’re committed to meeting each person where they are and supporting them as they transition through levels of care.

We believe there’s no wrong door for people to get the help they need to begin the journey to long-term recovery. With that in mind, we’ve continued to grow our continuum of care and offer more touchpoints for clients to access the services they need.

Parisi House on the Hill officially became a program of Momentum for Health in June, expanding our care for women. Parisi House provides care to mothers recovering from addiction allowing them to receive care while living with their babies and young children. We also opened an independent living residence for women in downtown San Jose. The beautiful house builds on a pilot program Momentum began last year.

We’ve also increased our presence in the community with the Trusted Response Urgent Support Team (TRUST), which launched on July 1 last year. This community service helps residents of Palo Alto, Mountain View, Sunnyvale, and Santa Clara connect with urgent help and support during a mental health or substance use crisis. This field team has grown to a fully staffed 24/7 service, with mobile vans throughout the community.

To respond to the ongoing behavioral health crisis in our county, we’ve expanded our Mental Health First Aid (MHFA) training program, which teaches community members how to recognize and respond to someone having a mental health crisis. Momentum offers this highly-regarded training for youth, adults, businesses, and community groups.

Our clients take many paths to healing, and the journey looks different for everyone. That’s why we’re committed to providing multiple entry points and opportunities to move through different levels of care.

None of this work would be possible without our community partners, generous donors, and the tireless work of staff and volunteers.

Thank you for your continued support.

At Parisi House on the Hill, mothers stay with their babies and young children while recovering from drug or alcohol addiction. Momentum and Parisi House on the Hill have collaborated for 25 years, working together to support young families.

This year, we grew that relationship, officially welcoming Parisi House as a Momentum program. The union increases our ability to care for mothers and their children—and the services they can access on their journey to healing.

Like other Momentum programs, clients at Parisi House benefit from a personalized, wraparound care approach. Pregnant women and mothers receive an individualized treatment program that includes counseling, classes to understand addiction and find new ways to live, and life skills training. Parisi House also supports their children with a child development program focused on their social and physical development and bonding with their mothers.

“I realized I didn’t need to fight this fight alone, you have enough support here to really catapult you into the person you want to be and deserve to be.”

—GRACIELA

Parisi House on the Hill
A safe place for moms and children

Graciela, who had struggled with addiction since she was a teenager, came to Parisi House with her three-year-old son. While there, she received treatment for addiction and strengthened their bond at the same time. Today, Graciela has graduated from Parisi House, works a stable job, and lives independently with her son.
Having a stable living environment is essential to recovery. Housing is part of Momentum for Health's continuum of care. We offer fully immersive adult residential programs, short-term independent housing, and long-term supportive housing.

An estimated 16% to 35% of Momentum’s clients on public insurance are unstably housed. Momentum strives to bridge the gap between behavioral health services and secure housing, knowing that adults who leave our crisis residential program without stable housing are more likely to return within a year.

In 2023, Momentum opened a new nine-bed, women-only independent housing site in downtown San Jose. The beautiful home provides a safe environment where residents develop independent living skills.

Momentum continues working toward providing housing for people in various stages of recovery. We have committed to expanding our housing options over the next few years.
Mental Health and substance use challenges have become a public health crisis in Santa Clara County. Many people want to help, but don’t know what to say or do in an emergency. That’s why we offer Mental Health First Aid training. This training is similar to CPR, but instead of chest compressions, participants learn to recognize a mental health crisis and respond in the moment.

Mental Health First Aid training doesn’t teach people to diagnose or treat mental health issues — but it does empower them with greater mental health literacy and empathy.

Attendees learn:
- signs, symptoms, and risk factors of mental health or substance use conditions
- words and actions to respond
- how to connect people with care or local resources

For years, Momentum has offered Youth Mental Health First Aid courses. This year, we expanded the program to include trainings focused on an adult audience as well. We now offer sessions for individuals, nonprofits, community groups, and businesses.

With the growth of this program, members of our community are better equipped to respond when they see someone in crisis—whether they are strangers, friends, or family.

This year, we celebrated the first anniversary of TRUST, a community service that helps Santa Clara County residents during an urgent mental health or substance use situation. TRUST, which stands for “Trusted Response Urgent Support Team,” is a partnership between four agencies: Momentum for Health, Pacific Clinics, HomeFirst Services, and Santa Clara County.

TRUST offers a crisis hotline and field response team where people can call to request help for themselves or others. The TRUST team treats every situation on a case-by-case basis, providing responsive care without involving law enforcement and triaging other teams when needed. In addition, the program offers social support through mobile vans that travel Santa Clara County.

In its first year, TRUST has helped hundreds of local residents by responding to homes, workplaces, and other sites in the community, and referring people to appropriate levels of care. Now, TRUST has expanded into a 24/7 field response team serving 10 unique cities in the area.

Field response teams have traveled across Santa Clara County to provide support and raise awareness of the service. Vans have bottled water, clothing, diapers, feminine hygiene products and other essentials, in addition to trained staff who are ready to listen when needed.

TRUST offers a broader lens for support, beyond mental health or substance use programs. The teams meet people where they are, whether or not they have a diagnosis, with an inclusive, peer-oriented approach. In the words of Bindu Khurana-Brown, Associate Director of our Crisis Stabilization Unit and Mobile Response, “We’ll come to them and we’ll understand them in whatever way they need to be understood.”

TRUST in Action

A Meals on Wheels worker called TRUST after visiting a recently widowed older man on his meal delivery route and noticing a decline in his living conditions and physical well-being. The TRUST team contacted him and ultimately connected the man to social support. Through many interactions like this, TRUST is changing lives in Santa Clara County.
From family support to agency support

Momentum for Health has been a driving force in ensuring access to mental health services in Santa Clara County for more than 70 years. We are honored to have long-time donors who have stayed involved throughout our history.

Lynn Dellaporta is one of those. In the early 1980s, a family member began receiving services with Momentum. During this challenging and uncertain time, Lynn felt the Momentum organization provided a lot of support to her family. She and her mother began volunteering to support the mission.

“We began volunteering with the family support group and helping out during special events,” she said. She and her mom set tables and cooked and served food to clients during holiday meals.

Throughout the years she has continued to volunteer her time, to donate material items as needed, and to give financially. Today, she helps with Momentum’s annual fundraiser. She’s passionate about maintaining these services for the community.

Everyone can find small ways to help the agency. If you currently support Momentum, talk to others and share ways they can support the mission.”

—LYNN DELLAPORTA

“In addition to financial giving, Momentum for Health needs donated items. When the organization put together a book drive to gather new reading material for the clients, Lynn checked her bookshelves and had her friends do the same.

“Everyone can find small ways to help the agency,” she said. “Review the website for current needs. Pay attention. If you currently support Momentum, talk to others and share ways they can support the mission.”
